From the Lincoln Times, Lincoln, N.C.: If you are planning to kill some of your fellow citizens in an automobile in the near future, or even if you are not planning to, it would be wise to heed the following facts, which have just been made available in a timely booklet on highway deaths in the United States.

The record for 1956 is not a very pretty one. There were 40,000 deaths on the highways of the United States last year, 2,000 more than in 1955.

There were 2,300,000 injuries in 1956, 210,000 more than in 1955. There were 223,000 pedestrian casualties in 1956, 2,000 more than in 1955.

An interesting addition to the statistical list is the fact that almost forty-two per cent of the 40,000 deaths in 1956 occurred on the weekends. And, it should be noted that eighty per cent of the accidents occurred on dry roads.

In clear weather, and better than four out of five of them resulted from driver error.

The worst time for automobile accidents, figured in the hours of the day, is apparently between four in the afternoon and eight in the evening. This is the time when many people are going home from work, perhaps in a hurry, and later on, when they are going out for the night. In these hours, about twenty-five per cent of the deaths and injuries occurred in 1956.

If you are interested in the manner in which people are killed on the highways, you will be interested to know that last year, more than 15,000 persons were killed in automobile collisions. Only 10,000 died in non-collision accidents. Almost as many, 8,000, pedestrians were killed.

Accidents involving automobiles and a fixed object accounted for 4,130 deaths and those involving a train accounted for 1,390 deaths. It is somewhat surprising to learn that 400 deaths resulted from collisions between automobiles and bicycles.

And, lastly, injuries in 1956 soared to 1,000,000 from automobile collisions, while a considerably smaller figure, 200,000, were injured in non-collision accidents.

Some 223,000 pedestrians were injured and 123,000 persons were injured in collisions involving automobiles and a fixed object. Over 12,000 persons were injured in accidents involving automobiles and bicycles, and some 7,100 were injured as a result of a collision between an automobile and a train.

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare.

It is one thing to talk about the need for cutting the federal budget and a very different thing indeed to present a budget program for doing so. The budget is an extraordinarily complex affair, and comparatively few people have the background of knowledge necessary to making a detailed and intelligent analysis of what can and cannot be done to reduce it.

Senator Bridges of New Hampshire has now offered that kind of analysis. He begins with praise of the President for his budget of 1956-57, which reversed the runaway spending of the Truman administration. The current budget, however, struck him very differently. It seemed unfamiliar that at an altitude high in property, an altitude high to employment with Federalism that the budget should be in such a precarious balance and that the cost of government should be absorbing such a large proportion of the profits of our labor. It was in this spirit that he made an intensive study to see how the budget may be cut.

Without in any way weakening our defense posture or without disrupting vital services.

Senator Bridges' program calls for reducing the President's 1957 budget by a minimum of $10 billion. He is not alone in this. A number of other Congressmen are also working for a reduction in the federal budget.

First of all, he points out that a percentage cut across the board is a sure-fire method to reduce the budget. He advocates a 10 per cent cut in the entire federal budget.

Second, he points out that a percentage cut across the board is a sure-fire method to reduce the budget. He advocates a 10 per cent cut in the entire federal budget.

Third, he points out that a percentage cut across the board is a sure-fire method to reduce the budget. He advocates a 10 per cent cut in the entire federal budget.

Fourth, he points out that a percentage cut across the board is a sure-fire method to reduce the budget. He advocates a 10 per cent cut in the entire federal budget.

Fifth, he points out that a percentage cut across the board is a sure-fire method to reduce the budget. He advocates a 10 per cent cut in the entire federal budget.

Sixth, he points out that a percentage cut across the board is a sure-fire method to reduce the budget. He advocates a 10 per cent cut in the entire federal budget.

Seventh, he points out that a percentage cut across the board is a sure-fire method to reduce the budget. He advocates a 10 per cent cut in the entire federal budget.

Eighth, he points out that a percentage cut across the board is a sure-fire method to reduce the budget. He advocates a 10 per cent cut in the entire federal budget.

Ninth, he points out that a percentage cut across the board is a sure-fire method to reduce the budget. He advocates a 10 per cent cut in the entire federal budget.

Tenth, he points out that a percentage cut across the board is a sure-fire method to reduce the budget. He advocates a 10 per cent cut in the entire federal budget.

Thursday, June 20, 20th Monthly Meeting of W. S. C. S. at Church, 7:30 p. m.

Friday, June 21, "Friday Gift Shop" open all afternoon in church annex, in rear of Methodist Church. Sunday, June 23:

Regular Sunday School at 9:45 a. m.
Church Worship at 11 a. m. On this St. John's Sunday, the Lodges of Masons in Bethel and in Locke Mills both will attend Bethel Methodist Church. The sermon theme is "The Two Saints John." The Masonic order claims that Saint John the Baptist, and Saint John the Apostle both served in turn as early Masters in the Masonic order. Though Scripture does not indicate one way or the other on this point, the characters of the two men teach us much.

Special statements of support. For example, Governor Milward L. Simpson of Wyoming said:

"Along the national system of interstate highways, it seems to me that we need to be free from a 'canon of signboards.' I hope you are successful in getting something done on this very important matter."

I was optimistic when I first introduced my anti-billboard legislation. Letters of support poured in from people throughout the country. Editorial endorsement was almost unanimous.

But the outdoor advertising interests have waged a tireless campaign to discredit such legislation. Now the Senate Public Roads Subcommittee has loaded down its bill with an amendment to add 7,000 miles to the Interstate system.

I am unable to ascertain why this proposal was attached to a measure to restrict billboards, unless it was designed to cause the ultimate defeat of the entire bill.

It will be a great disappointment to millions of Americans if Congress does not act to protect their investment in the nation's highways from the billboard menace.

Small Business — The House Banking and Currency Committee has given permanent status to the Small Business Administration, which was created on a temporary basis in 1943. The Committee bill incorporated the essence of my legislation in this regard.

Cotton Hearings — The House Agriculture Committee intends to hold a hearing soon on the legislation providing for the sale of surplus cotton to the depressed domestic textile industry.

In my testimony for the legislation I hope to convince the Committee of the need to counteract the harmful effects of surplus cotton exports on our textile industry.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Thursday, June 20
Read John 3:14-21.
God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. (Romans 5:8).

Gloria had given vent to her temper by screaming while she tossed her bedding off her bed and tossed it on the floor.

Now, still pouting and miserable, she sat down on the porch beside her mother. Neither of them spoke. Finally, Gloria leaned her head against her mother's shoulder and said, "Does God love me Mum? Does He love me even now?"

"Yes," was the quiet reply. "God loves you very much, even now, but He doesn't love the way you have acted and what you have done."

A few minutes more passed. Then

Gloria crept within the circle of her mother's arm and cuddled up close to her.

After waiting a while longer, the mother looked down at the little daughter and said, "Shall we go in now and fix up your bed again?" Looking up with a smile, Gloria said, "Yes, and I'm sorry for what I did and how I acted."

Prayer
"Have mercy upon me, O God, according to thy lovingkindness. . . . Hide thy face from my sins, and blot out all mine iniquities. Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me." In the Redeemer's name. Amen.

and support of the Lake Christopher College, and Robert Miller program. To date 12 garden clubs have contributed scholarship funds which enable teachers to attend tuition-free.

Also stressed was the fact that future uses of the Christopher Lake property may in time include the training of youth groups and adult organizations interested in conservation.

Construction of additional sleeping quarters on the property is currently underway, and as the physical plant is expanded the program will be intensified to include larger groups of teachers. It is expected that a double cabin, capable of sleeping 16 people, will be ready for the June 24 opening. The main lodge will be used to house faculty members and others connected with the program.

Faculty members for this summer's program include Professors: George Davis, University of Maine; John Mudge, Farmington State, Maine; and Teachers: College, and Robert Miller. Members of the various state agencies interested in conservation will assist the faculty by providing demonstrations, conducting field trips, and providing lectures. A typical day for example, will be when the State Forestry Department will provide instruction on Maine's forest resources, including tree identification in the field and discussions on management.

The first group of teachers to attend the workshop include: Miss Alice Austin, Bath; Mrs. Elizabeth Duplaine, Auburn; Miss Helene Decker, Norway; Mrs. Ruth Gifford, Cape Elizabeth; Mrs. Adeline Forbes, Portland; Carl Hellaburg, Waterville; Kenneth Johnson, Sanford; Mrs. Harriet McCroary, Winthrop; Nathan Mitchell, Augusta; Miss Peggy-Lee Rayan, Portland; Richmond Roderick, Bethel; Elinor Walker, Clinton; and Gerald John Mudge, Farmington State, Maine.

Vacation Bible School opens the Universalist Church, with an enrollment of 62 children. Matt Salomona, Quincy, was the guest speaker at the high school Congregational Church Sunday night.

West Paris High School graduation exercises were held in gymnasium, Wednesday night. Participating in the program were: High School orchestra; truants; Carolene Lory, Processional; Duane Hayes, marshal; Presiding of Colors, Richard Hilder; Richard Kangas; Invocation, Ronald Hecks; Salutatory, Jane Abbott; Will, Norman M. SCIENCE SAFETY CONFIDENCE

There's more to a tire than just rubber!

At the big SNOW State of Maine plants, the production of POWER-TREDS is like a labor of love. Every scientific technique, every safety inspection known, is carefully applied to each tire. That's why SNOW'S POWER-TREDS inspire confidence in every owner...that's why SNOW can afford to give this strong, durable yet amazingly inexpensive tire an UNCONDITIONAL GUARANTEE. ABBOTT AMONG LEADERS ESTIMATING LOG PILE

Two New Hampshire men and a third from Bethel, Maine, topped a field of some 150 woodlot owners from Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont in estimating the footage in a million-board-foot pile of saw logs. The competition was one of the features of an all-day program embracing a three-mile tramp through woodlands and a mill-inspection trip at Berlin.

Theodore Natty of Concord won first honors in the wood-estimating competition, with Leland Farrington of Conway, N. H., taking second place and Carroll Abbott of West Bethel taking third honors. Natty guessed within 12,000 feet of the footage in a 1,678,455-foot pile.

Included in the tour of forest areas was a 21-acre plantation of pine and spruce, planted by Brown, Board Chairman Laurence F. Company in 1933, and recently thinned by the company for pulpwood.

"Brown Company is carrying out a continuing program on this plantation," Vice President C. S. Herr, told the group. "We will adhere to a policy of cutting, not for today, but for the future."

Bethel Defeats West Paris
Our boys visited West Paris last Tuesday evening and won their first game of the new season, 21-2.

York and Merrill won the starting battery for the locals and did a fine job allowing only two hits in five innings. Some of our leading hitters were McAllister with three for four and Don Rice and Des-Bois with three hits out of five runs to the plate. Angeline also hit a long triple in the 6th inning.

West Paris: 610 000 1-2
Bethel: 232 233 4-21

Umpire (pitcher, catcher, bases): D. Rice

West Paris battery, Curtilis and McKean

Bethel battery, York and Des-Bois. Fanning and McAllister in relief.

HOW TO SELL YOUR HOUSE

No other merchandise is subjected to such critical inspection as a house. It must look attractive to sell. There are some ways to make your house salable, according to the editors of "Changing Times," the Hinghamer Magazine.

One that carries part of the structure is sound and that all mechanical equipment works. Even a sticking drawer speaks poorly of the house and suggests hidden faults. Up-to-date kitchens and bathrooms count most. Experts say you get back money spent improving these rooms.

Brighten up with new paint and paper even if the paper redecorates everything the day he moves in. Also mend the flower beds, prune the shrubs and patch the lawn, especially in front. Lending prospects out of their cars is half the battle.

Get rid of trash and clutter. Straighten up the closets so that they look spacious. Borrow furniture if necessary to dress up underfurnished rooms. And when prospects are coming, see that every room is picked up and turned on extra lights to give the place a better, comfortable look.

Flunk up on costs, of course. On spending on candidate days off.

THE BIG SCHOOL PROBLEM

Several Alaska, the liberal-minded writer on current affairs, recently made a little tour of some western states. He was motivated by the fact that the federal government provides funds for children's education.

At the beginning of the trip, Mr. Alaska was inclined to agree with the proposal that at the end of the tour he should say no more.

One reason for that is that the school situation was serious in many places. He had seen the state of affairs as it has sometimes been painted.

Another reason is that if the federal government does more on the federal government will say no, despite the President's loud hopes.

Still another reason is that there is something to be said for the school that the children of a state should be the primary responsibility for the education of their children.

Finally, Mr. Alaska came away from the tour with a new opinion. He said the teachers and officials of all state schools were a fine lot. He was interested in the fact that the children were taught to read and enough to what they were taught.

All of these remarkably liberal observations are important. And they are the most important of all. We will get the car before the motor with a new engine if we have a new engine on the car. We will get the car before the motor with a new engine if we have a new engine on the car.

Compiled by John R. Rand, state geologist, the booklet titled "Maine Pegmatite Mines, Prospects, and Associated Minerals" is expected to be of assistance to persons and firms interested in developing and utilizing Maine's mineral resources. It lists 181 pegmatite occurrences in the state in which are found feldspar, quartz, mica, beryl, apatite, tourmaline, and other minerals.

Rand said that the present publication, and others to follow, will mark the first time that known Maine mineral deposits have been completely listed.

The booklet will be distributed free of charge for 90 days. After that, in line with legislation, a charge to cover printing and handling costs will be made.

To be of further service Rand said that his office will also establish a sales agency for U. S. government maps, charts, and other publications specifically concerned with geology and other earth features in Maine.

Sam T. Smith

Sam T. Smith, who has been Governor for District 41-L, Maine, of the Lions International for the past year, leaves Friday on a several weeks tour of California and the West Coast. In addition to visiting old friends in Los Angeles and Olympia, Wash., he will attend the Lions International Convention in San Francisco during the last week of June.

At the convention Governor Smith will be honored by being advanced to the position of International Councillor, and also have bestowed upon him the coveted award of the jeweled medal of 1895 achievement earned during his tenure of office as Governor, for having met every requirement of Lion progress and expansion as laid down by the International organization. Lion Smith relinquishes his office as District Governor on July 1st and will be succeeded by Donald G. Peterson of Westbrook, who was elected to the post of Governor last Tuesday at the Multiple District Convention held at Poland Springs.

Mr. Smith expects to be back home again by the middle or latter part of July.
